About

The ink at Potluck Press runs as deeply as blood. The family-run business, based in Seattle, was born of owner Patti McKillop's love of words and photography. The passion was sparked early in life by her grandfather, Bernard Nordmann, a Missouri-based publisher. Today, Patti runs Potluck Press alongside her children (and grandchildren), spending their workday together and doing so with humor and love.

A driving force of the business is bringing excellence through collaboration. Potluck Press is a place "where everyone brings something to the table." Input and ideas are not only celebrated, but expected, resulting in quirky and lovable ways to express everyday sentiments.

Earth Friendly

We care about our planet and wherever possible, Potluck Press is striving to be a green company. We do this by using sustainable water-based inks and packing orders with limited materials.

Made in the USA

All gift products are printed in our studio in Seattle, WA.
